Project Achievements so far:

To date, African Impact volunteers contributed over 33,932 hours to community development in the Vilanculos area of Mozambique. Our project structures, together with the support and advice of our charitable foundation team at The Happy Africa Foundation, are continuously assessing our work and project strategies to ensure that these hours are meaningful with measurable outcomes.

The African Impact project in Vilanculos, Mozambique has succeeded in facilitating HIV testing and awareness for over 450 members of the Vilanculos community. At the rural preschool we have built a full new classroom, a large vegetable garden, a kitchen, a toilet facility, and a new shady veranda for the children's eating area. We have also repainted the interior of the existing classrooms to provide a bright and fun learning environment. Our home-building project has provided approximately 25 new homes to those without the means to build for themselves, and a house for the night guard/caretaker of the pre-school. We have also enrolled approximately fifty students in our English language school and established a language club within the local community, who are all amazingly keen and dedicated learners.

More about our Vilanculos Pre-school and English Teaching Programme:

This project has a very rural and tropical feel involving various aspects of community and development work in and around the coastal town of Vilanculos. We support a number of different community development initiatives. We spend our mornings at a rural preschool and most afternoons teaching English. When you are not teaching or planning the English lessons, you will be involved in a number of other exciting and rewarding community initiatives.

The projects are always evolving so are likely to be at different stages upon your arrival. Volunteers should be prepared to be involved in a wide spectrum of project work as things progress, all of which help move the projects and the people of Vilanculos towards a more sustainable and positive tomorrow.

Rural Pre-School Learning Centre – A Escolinha de Boa Esperanca – The School of Good Hope

African Impact first started working in partnership with the School of Good Hope in November 2007, with approximately 25 children enrolled. Since then we have been working alongside the teachers and developing it to where we now have over 70 learners on our books. The volunteer role at the pre-school is fundamental for the development of the children. You will be involved both in the classroom generating new and exciting ways to learn and interacting with the children at break time. Volunteers visit the pre-school every morning (Monday to Friday) and will teach their own class in small groups of about 8 children. Your role at the pre-school is as a teacher, preparing the children for their next step into primary school, and involves the following:

- Singing and dancing with the children in English, Portuguese and Xitsua
- Developing the children's imagination and creative skills through crafts such as painting, drawing and colouring
- Teaching basic lessons about colours, numbers, letters and knowledge of the world in English, with the assistance of a translator
- Giving the children the opportunity to let off some steam through fun games and structured physical education classes
- Helping to prepare the lunch for the children
- General upkeep of the school to keep it a pleasant environment in which to learn
- Some basic work at the preschool farm, aimed at providing a source of sustainable income for the preschool

After having spent the morning at the Preschool, you will help out the local community through a wide array of projects in the afternoons and these are outlined below:

ORPHAN CARE AND DEVELOPMENT

We visit a local orphanage to spend time enriching the lives of the children that live there, and are currently working on an exciting building initiative to furnish them with a new dorm so they can provide for more Children in need! As a volunteer you will be involved in the following:

- Spend time with the Children, enriching their lives
- New Orphan dorm Building initiative
- Developmental playtime where the children get to learn new games and play with toys to which they wouldn't normally have access to.
- Constructive sports games such as frisbee and football
- Giving the children the one on one care and attention that is so critical for their development

TEACHING ENGLISH PROJECT:

For two afternoons a week we currently teach English to a group of about fifty students split into groups depending on ability, ranging in age from young to middle-aged adults. Volunteers are responsible for designing and delivering the lesson plans, which are always interactive and fun with the use of flash cards, games, objects and worksheets. Volunteers encourage active participation from the students by reading out loud, role-playing, writing on the board and participating in educational games. The English lessons are free for the students and open to anyone from the community at-large. They offer an amazing and rare opportunity for the people of Vilanculos to increase their knowledge of English, which greatly increase their chance of securing employment in Vilanculos' growing tourism-based economy.

Please note that a full range of level abilities are taught in these lessons. Volunteers should arrive with a solid, strong, comfortable and confident working knowledge of English grammar basics (this is a good opportunity to brush up on your English language skills!). Your role as a volunteer will include:

- Planning fun, interactive, and challenging lessons for the students
- Conducting lessons with the help of a translator in a patient, dynamic, creative, inspirational and passionate manner
- Assigning and correction of homework assignments
- Getting to know an amazing group of individuals with an inspiring dedication to learning

RURAL HOME BUILDING:

Cyclone Favio hit the Mozambican coast in February 2007 and devastated much of the local area. African Impact was involved in the initial relief work and assisting international aid agencies. Through our local contacts we have continued with rural home-building for those who do not have the means to build for themselves (monetarily or physically). We work in close conjunction with community leaders to assess the most critical housing needs and then act accordingly.

We are currently managing to build 1 home approximately every 2 months (dependent on volunteer numbers!). They are simple and rustic structures typical of construction in the Inhambane Province.

The work is sometimes challenging but always rewarding and offers an amazing insight into rural Vilanculos as well as the chance to meet and form working relationships with members of the local community. Other building projects that we undertake include refurbishment at the preschool, such as new classrooms and amenities.

LANGUAGE CLUB

Another exciting project you may get involved in is our Language club. The students that attend include young children, young women, and adults, all of whom perhaps have missed out on other formal learning opportunities. The language club is an amazing opportunity for these individuals to pick up some English that can help them procure employment and therefore a more stable lifestyle. Also, what better way to get to know and form close bonds with your neighbours than learning together? You will be involved in:

- Playing creative language learning games, such as bingo and pairs game to encourage fun learning
- Arts and crafts as a means of increasing vocabulary, with themes such as sea-life and the animal world
- More formal English lessons with advanced students, keen to further their education in their spare time
- Singing in English and Portuguese

OTHER COMMUNITY PROJECTS:

There are a number of other community projects that we are involved in the afternoons. These include maintaining the farm at the pre-school, painting projects at the pre-school to make it an exciting place for the children to learn, beach clean up days and a cultural day once a month at one of the project's translator's family home. This is to help the volunteers get immersed and learn about traditional Mozambican culture.

Project “Day in the life of a volunteer”:

Here is how a typical day in the life of a Mozambique teaching volunteer might take shape. Please note that your itineraries may differ from this, depending on your own experience and the number of other volunteers on the placement at the same time; this is simply to give an example:

“This is the most amazing project I have ever volunteered on. The different aspects of the project meant that every day there was something new to look forward to. Having volunteered before I can truthfully say that I have never met such enthusiastic and dedicated staff. Their passion for the project was truly inspiring and one could see how successful the project was as a result. Overall I had an incredible experience on this project and met some wonderful people. I only wish it hadn’t ended so soon!”

Members of our African Impact team are based within walking distance of the volunteer camp, and are always available to offer any assistance or support you may require during your stay with us.

We find that volunteers living together and working closely together with their projects co-ordinator is the surest way of guaranteeing their safety and being able to attend to their most pressing needs. For this reason, we expect all volunteers to stay only in the accommodation provided for them and do not allow volunteers to spend nights away in the town or nearby villages, unless they are away on pre-arranged sightseeing excursions. In addition volunteers are not allowed visitors to stay over in the camp without the prior agreement of the project manager.

Breakfast is served at the volunteer house on a help-yourself basis and usually consists of cereals/porridge, toast, tea and coffee. Lunch and dinner are full meals, and will be cooked for you by our volunteer cook at the volunteer base. On Saturday nights volunteers and project managers all go out for some local cuisine. It is a great social experience and will offer you a chance to experience a variety of authentic Mozambican dishes.
